

Solvay employees rally on inaugural Citizen Day in support of the UN's Climate Action Summit

Princeton, September 24, 2019 --- Solvay employees from more than 160 sites around the globe are joining forces with local communities during the company's first-ever Citizen Day. Solvay has chosen 'environmental preservation' as the theme for the 2019 Citizen Day, in support of the UN Climate Action Summit on 23 September and as part of the Group's sustainability commitment.

"We have 24,500 employees – and that means as many opportunities to make a difference to our communities. I'm proud to launch the first Solvay Citizen Day in our history to bond around one theme each year. On this first occasion, we will address the preservation of the environment. Such concerted yet locally diverse actions on a global scale will raise awareness about how we can as individuals, as teams, as a company care for the one planet we all share," said Ilham Kadri, Solvay CEO.

Solvay sites will organize their own Citizen Day initiatives from September 17 to September 27, with staff participating in local activities. Examples of actions uniting Solvay employees from over 40 sites in North America to preserve the environment include:

- Augusta, Georgia - Employees will visit two local elementary schools to talk with children ages 5 - 11 about the importance of water conservation and solar power.
- Piedmont, South Carolina - Employees will rehabilitate a neglected nature trail that runs across the site - clearing paths, cleaning up the waterways and planting native plants - in order to promote various wildlife habitats and create a safe place to explore nature.
- Welland in Canada - Employees will take part in a cleanup campaign to clear garbage and trash from approximately two kilometers of green space surrounding the plant.

Sites will undertake Citizen Day activities whenever possible in cooperation with local associations, government initiatives or NGOs under a different theme each year, but always with the aim of improving the world around us and contributing to local communities. The Citizen Day will contribute towards Solvay's five sustainability targets, which include doubling the number of employees involved in local societal actions by 2025.
